

Reference letter for Ms Belle Stammers

To whom it may concern,

I am writing this letter to recommend Ms. Belle Stammers as a student at your university.

I have known Belle since she was born. Over the last seventeen years it has been a great pleasure to observe her grow and develop into the kind, warm, honest, intelligent and industrious young woman that she is. I am proud to call her co-worker and friend.

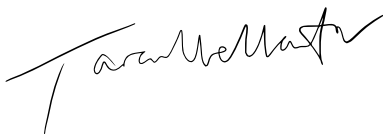

Throughout her schooling life, Belle has been interested in health, science and the human body. She expressed to me a keen interest in studying either dentistry or oral health therapy upon completion of high school and attended our dental practice weekly for months as part of a school internship. Through this internship she was able to gain a comprehensive understanding of what it is like to work in a dental practice, which made her even more enthusiastic to pursue a career in it.

For the past year, Belle has been working at our practice two days a week as a dental assistant. A few months ago, Belle also completed her Certificate III in Dental Assisting.

As a co-worker, Belle is a real team player. She is punctual, reliable and is well liked by all of the staff. She regularly assists myself and the other clinicians at the practice throughout a range of dental procedures, as well as working in the Steri bay. She assists with the taking and processing of digital radiographs, wiping down after the patient has left the surgery, and greeting and chatting with the patients upon entry into the surgery. Being one of six children, Belle is a hit with all of our young paediatric patients and her warm, calm, nurturing demeanour is of great comfort to our anxious patients.
